FASUE Club Dance To Boost Swimming Pool

Porterville's FASUE club, an organization of physically handicapped persons, will sponsor a Porterville Community Swimming Pool benefit dance Saturday evening beginning at 9:00 o'clock at the VFW hall. The dance will put the cap on the week's fund-raising efforts which already have swelled the pool fund by over $1,400.

The American Association of University Women alone accounted for $568 of the total. Other groups who pitched in on the campaign this week include: Emblem Club, $262; Zonta International, $200; Elks Lodge, $129; Junior Chamber of Commerce, $100; 20-Ands, $63; and one individual contribution of $100, according to Joe Elliott, chamber of commerce secretary-manager.

On the construction side, the 300 yards of sand cushioning for the pool floor was laid Sunday, and the next step will be placing forms for sides of the pool, Mr. Elliott said.

STRATHMORE SCHOOL MEET

Problems of the Strathmore high school district in relation to a special election February 16 for vote on a special 40c school district tax over a period of two years will be discussed at a public meeting in the school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m., Friday. The tax is asked to improve the school program, to re-establish a district reserve fund and to provide funds to pay a "competitive" salary to teachers.

LONGLEY SUPERVISOR CANDIDATE

John R. (Ray) Longley, rancher, announced today that he will be a candidate for Tulare county supervisor from the fifth district that lies south of the Tule river and in which Paul Gerdes is the incumbent.

Mr. Longley has resided in the 5th supervisory district since early childhood, graduating from Pleasant View school, Porterville high school and Porterville college.

He served four years in the U.S. Air force in World War II and was released from active duty with the rank of captain in the adjutant general's department reserve.

Prior to entering the army, he was engaged in personnel and administrative work for the state of California at Sacramento; he taught in Visalia high school and College of the Sequoias for two and one-half years after leaving the military service.

He has been active in civic affairs and youth work, being formerly associated with work in the Mt. Whitney Area, Boy Scouts of America and formerly a 4-H leader at Vandalia. He is an honorary member of the Visalia chapter of the Future Farmers of America and belongs to both the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars; at present he is a member of the Porterville high school and college board of trustees.

Mr. Longley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Longley, who came to southern Tulare county in 1903. He is married to the former Paula Mauser of Tipton and has two sons, Karl, a junior at Porterville high school, and Johnny, a student at Vandalia school.

FINS UR EATHERS

By Phil The Forester

The Senate Interim committee on Fish and Game holds a series of four meetings this week with the first one on February 3 at San Andreas, February 4 in Sonora and at the Mariposa County fairgrounds in Mariposa, Friday. The Saturday meeting will be at the Yosemite Lodge. Just about everything of interest to the sportsman appears on the agenda from brown trout to deer and reservoir fishing to a doe season. I expect to cover at least part of the sessions.

The Kings River attracts many anglers as soon as the weather invites but we remind all concerned that the river upstream from the Friant-Kern Canal is closed to all fishing until the opening of the trout season. Fishing is permitted below the canal for the warm water species only, any trout taken incidental thereto must be released.

The Kern River and tributaries from the Democrat Dam downstream, the Kaweah river and the Tule river and all tributaries below the mouth of the south fork is now open to warm water fishing but trout may not be retained.

Weather conditions have helped the valley's warm water fishing success at last. Most of the fish taken are bass and bluegill although some catfish and crappie are being caught on the west side, especially between Tranquility and the Mendota dam.

Millerton lake has been producing and ditto the San Joaquin river just below the dam at Friant where some small mouth are being taken. Lost Lake in that immediate area has also been very productive.

The board brought the improvement district into being after a hearing last Thursday failed to show sufficient objection to its formation.

Plans and specifications for improvements in the form of a complete underground pipe system were discussed at the board's regular meeting this week. When approved, the specifications will be used as a basis for bidding on actual construction, according to Ernie Northrup, Porterville district manager.

J. H. Stone, of Stone and Youngberg investment securities company of San Francisco, outlined ways and means of financing an improvement district to the board.

Water will be sold ranchside if the user has installed a metering device of the types approved by the district manager, otherwise, the user will be sold water measured at the point of delivery from the canal.

WATER DISTRICT PETITIONS READY

Petitions for formation of a California Water District in the Tea Pot Dome area have been circulated, and will be presented to the county board of supervisors in the near future, according to Henry Campbell, civic engineer and citrus grower in the area.

The board of supervisors will set a hearing date, and if the hearing is favorable, a formation election date will be named.

THE OLD DAYS

A June 9, 1888, Porterville Enterprise is the oldest copy of a Porterville newspaper that we have come across. This paper is Volume 1, No. 8, which means that it was the eighth copy of the Enterprise to be published. Here are some of the items from this old paper:

P. P. Davis has been appointed agent of the Merchants' and Bankers' Mutual Life Insurance Co. of San Francisco.

We were presented this week by Mr. Rothi with several railroad views taken in this vicinity. They should find a place in every home in town, the view of the first train entering Porterville being especially valuable as a keepsake. (Ed. Note — This latter photo can be seen now (1954) in an enlargement in the Porterville chamber of commerce office.)

Old Uncle Babe Williams had on exhibition Monday a sample of alfalfa grown on his place two miles west of Porterville. The alfalfa has received no irrigation for three years and it measured about four feet, which shows the productiveness of the soil.

D. A. Vaughn says that one of his black sheep running with his band in the mountains took after a black bear the other day in the presence of the herder. The sheep ran brin up a tree and he was shot by the herder.

The losses at the recent fire in Tipton are estimated at $35,000 and the insurance at less than $10,000. We hear that detectives have been engaged by the insurance companies to ascertain the origin of the fire and that there are doubts as to whether some of the policies will be paid if they discover evidence of incendiarism.

On Monday last, a petition was drawn up, signed by the president and secretary of the Porterville Improvement company asking the board of supervisors to grant them a franchise to erect electric light poles and masts in the town of Porterville and vicinity. It was forwarded to Mr. Henderson, supervisor of this district. On Wednesday, P. P. Davis, treasurer of the Porterville Improvement company, received a letter from Supervisor Henderson, stating that the petition had been granted by the board inside of 20 minutes from the time it was presented. This is getting improvements in a hurry.

On Saturday last an election was held for school trustee. Mrs. R. C. Redd received the unanimous vote. The board is now composed of C. A. McClain, O. A. Wilcox and Mrs. Redd.

John S. Henry, proprietor of the Mountain View Stage line, informs us that passenger traffic is good and gradually increasing between this place and Tulare.

On Saturday last our town was visited by a gang of so-called Gypsies, the women particularly making their presence obnoxious by their persistent efforts to induce our people to have their fortunes told. It would seem as though a heavy license might be imposed on them that would put a stop to their worthless haranguer, as they take a great many dollars out of a town and spend very few in it. Only a short time previous another gang stopped here for a week or two and departed several hundred dollars better off than when they came here. We would like to see the money spent in a more legitimate way.

FARM BUREAU REGIONAL MEETING

Bert Smith, secretary of the Irrigation District association and former California Farm Bureau federation secretary, will deliver the address "What the Farm Bureau Can Do," at the bureau's region three meeting to be held Saturday at Reedley junior college.

The all-day meeting will begin with a general assembly at 9:30 a.m. in the college cafeteria, and will continue with group meetings covering water problems, the tax committee, legislative committee and the cotton situation.

The afternoon session will include county reports, resolutions and other regional business.

WOODVILLE DOES IT AGAIN

Our congratulations go to the people of Woodville for their fine effort last Friday night in behalf of the March of Dimes, an effort that netted some thousand dollars from a box social and auction.

Woodville, of course, isn't the biggest community in the county, but when it comes to getting a job done, the people there are hard to beat. In other years the community's contribution to the March of Dimes has been really outstanding, but this year, what with farmers having their worries here and there, not much was done early in the drive.

However, it looks like folks out there were saving their "Sunday punch," for the Woodville box social put the southeastern Tulare county drive over the top, which means that the county and national program for treatment of polio victims, and for research that may eventually eliminate the disease, got another needed boost.

VALUE OF PROPER FERTILIZER ON SUGAR BEETS DEMONSTRATED IN EXPERIMENTS ON BOWLES RANCH

By Alan G. George
Farm Advisor

The value of proper fertilization of sugar beets has been demonstrated in field tests conducted for two years on the Gene Bowles ranch in the Prairie Center area.

In 1952 sugar beet yields were increased from 14.5 tons per acre where no fertilizer was applied to over 20 tons per acre with 120 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre. Higher rates of nitrogen during that season actually reduced the sugar produced per acre. Too high a nitrogen level at harvest means lower sugar concentrations. With a high nitrogen level beets continue vegetative growth utilizing sugar which should be stored in the root, George pointed out.

When phosphate was added to the nitrogen in 1952 a large increase in yield was obtained indicating a phosphate deficiency. This increase in yield was over 7.5 tons per acre over the corresponding nitrogen rate and 15 tons per acre over the unfertilized beets. Potash added to the same rates of nitrogen and phosphate depressed the sugar yield.

In 1953 further testing of fertilizer on beets was conducted in another field on the Bowles ranch to obtain more information on the optimum nitrogen and phosphate rates of fertilization. Phosphate alone gave no increase in tonnage or in sugar over the unfertilized treatments. Nitrogen alone increased the yield over 3 tons of beets per acre over the unfertilized beets, but phosphate was again a limiting factor. The optimum rate of phosphate was 100 pounds per acre of actual phosphoric acid and with an adequate nitrogen supply increased beet tonnage over nine tons per acre above the unfertilized beets.

Fertilizer experiments have shown that fertilizer requirements differ a great deal from field to field. However, any practice which would help a grower obtain results from fertilizing beets is worth considering. Such a practice was used in these tests. Leaf stem, or petiole samples, were taken at about three weeks intervals during the growing season both years. By analyzing these petioles the amount of nitrogen in the sugar beet stem will tell if the plants will benefit from more fertilizer. These analyses are also valuable in determining how well a crop is supplied with phosphate or potassium and if it is likely to give a response such as was obtained at Bowles. An adequate nitrogen supply during the earlier growth period is important for good root tonnage.

This method of sampling won't tell how much nitrogen the beets need to correct a deficiency but can help a grower do a better job of fertilizing sugar beets. This plant tissue analysis of sugar beets was developed by Dr. Albert Ulrich, plant physiologist of the University of California.

Problems Of Non-Tillage In Citrus Groves Discussed By Farm Advisor

By Karl W. Opitz

Tulare County Farm Advisor

Most citrus growers agree that the less the soil in their orchards is disturbed the better their trees grow and the more crop they get. Compaction and plow pan resulting from tillage can be eliminated when cultivation is abandoned for several years. Because of the difficulty of properly handling non-tillage with continuous cover crop, however, many citrus groves are operated under a system of non-tillage without cover crop. This method lends itself very well to the majority of groves in Tulare county.

Experimental work in a navel orange grove owned by David Klein, near Ivanhoe, disclosed a decided advantage in production in favor of the non-tilled trees in comparison with conventionally tilled trees. The James Long grove, also in the Ivanhoe district, showed a definite acceleration of fruit maturity as compared with nearby groves under the usual system of cultivation.

Properly laid out furrows and drive rows in Jack Dungan's orange grove near Exeter has enabled him to do a better job of harvesting, pest control, and frost protection than with the old summer tillage — winter cover crop system.

A permanently installed sump pump system to handle excess irrigation water has permitted George Delano in the Lindsay district to maintain his grove in an excellent condition. Avoidance of tail water accumulation is facilitated by this arrangement in the non-tilled orchard.

One difficulty encountered with non-cultivation particularly with the red soils, has been inadequate water penetration. W. W. Workman in the Orosi area has solved this by the addition of gypsum to the irrigation water. For several years Glenn Magee, near Orange Cove has applied poultry manure in the furrows. He does not have any trouble getting satisfactory water penetration.

Costs of changing from tillage to non-tillage are appreciable. Unless the grower is prepared to set up and maintain this system in the most efficient manner he should not attempt it. For the recent information on developing a non-tillage program, citrus growers may obtain a leaflet free of charge entitled "Citrus Soil Management" from the farm advisor's office, post office building, Yrencia.

The Sixth Annual California Weed conference will be held in the Odd Fellows Temple at 9th and K Streets in Sacramento, January 27th and 28th.

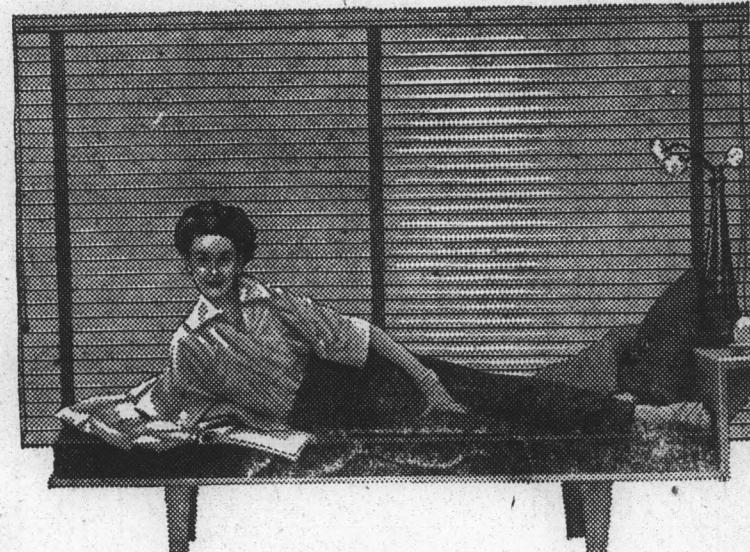

All farmers, livestock men, and others interested in weed control are invited to attend this meeting.

ALTA VISTA SCHOOL IS DEDICATED AT SITE OF OLD INDIAN RESERVATION

School officials dedicated the new Alta Vista school last Friday evening on the site where the first Tule River Indian reservation existed almost 100 years ago.

Approximately 150 students, parents and guests were present at the ceremony dedicating the modern structure, housing seven class rooms, a special assembly room and administrative offices.

Joe Doctor, of the Tulare County Historical society, who was principal speaker, said that the original Indian reservation was established on the site in 1857 because it was the location of the main village of the Koyeta Indian tribe which inhabited this area.

J. Post Williams, county superintendent of schools, lauded the efforts of trustees and citizens of the district for their accomplishment "in the face of almost insurmountable difficulties caused by the vagaries of the weather and organized labor."

Miss Sylvia Wylde, teacher at the school, read the poem "Our Castle of Dreams" which she wrote in honor of the occasion "in order to add the sentimental touch."

Ralph McLaughlin, eight-year-old TV performer, presented vocal selections in the form of a "Hit Parade Review."

The Rev. Willis Goldsmith offered the invocation and the Rev. E. C. Schneider pronounced the benediction.

Special guests included Carl Atkins, Jack Holly and Carl Creeks of the district board of trustees and Principal and Mrs. Ralph Aldridge of Bartlett school.

Sermon in Miniature

By Everett C. Schneider, Minister
The Evangelical United Brethren Church

511 Third Street, Porterville

HE COMMANDED "CERTAINTY"

Despite the fact that youth camps and the Red Cross have been in business for years of teaching people how to swim, yet a poll reveals that 52% of the people of the United States can't swim. It is commendable that we are to have a city swimming pool, and that the various organizations are backing up the campaign for funds. We hope that more people will learn to swim because of this new Porterville pool.

Of course we all know that a person doesn't learn to swim by just reading a book. There is no substitute for "getting into the water." One day Jesus saw a man on the edge of the Pool of Bethesda in the city of Jerusalem. (John 5). Around this pool a platform had been built, which the Bible calls "porches," and on these the halt, lame, and blind lay waiting for the "troubling" of the waters; for the story goes that an angel of the Lord came down periodically to "trouble" or disturb the waters, and the first person "in" after such disturbance was the one to be healed. This "certain" man was so crippled that he couldn't get in to secure the benefits of healing before another was ahead of him.

Jesus cut the "Gordian Knot" by commanding "Rise, take up your bed, and walk."

Has it ever "struck you" how much Jesus accomplished by the "authority of divine certainty? Has it ever struck you that most of our mental ills today are due to "human uncertainty?" Those who are led by "Thus saith the Lord," are seldom the victims of the current "jingle-jangle-jungle rat race."

California farmers produced a combined total of 6,636,300 tons of major fruit and nut crops in 1953, with an estimated value to growers of $439,784,000.

SEND PLOWS, NOT MONEY TO AID MIDDLE EAST, SAYS JAY P. GOULD IN FORUM DISCUSSION MONDAY NIGHT

The basic problem in the Middle East is food, not Communism, and the solution lies in sending them plows, not money, said Jay P. Gould, noted oil expert recently returned from the Middle East, who spoke in the Porterville adult school forum at the high school Monday evening.

"I can speak about 40 Arabic dialects, and I can't say Communism (or Democracy either) in any of them, but I'll bet I can say 'no beans in the pot' in all 40," Mr. Gould said.

All of the money this country has sent to the area, and most of the CARE packages found their way into the hands of the "haves" and a majority of the "have-nots" haven't even heard of the United States, much less our aid programs, he asserted.

"The solution, as I see it, is to stop giving money and start lending agricultural equipment, with supervision as to its use, and provisions that if the people use the equipment, they may keep it, and if they do not, we will take it back," Mr. Gould said.

This is the kind of an arrangement the people in the Middle Eastern countries, 98 per cent of whom are illiterate, but not stupid, could understand and appreciate, he added.

"I believe that in order to have such a plan work, the program should be taken out of the hands of the state department and placed under a group of agricultural economists and technicians," he added.

Mr. Gould said that Russia needs the oil in the Middle East badly — would find it impossible to fight a full-scale war without it — but that in order to transport oil to Russia they would have to take Turkey and transport the oil through that country in order to circumvent the Vol mountains.

"The largest oil field in Lebanon, lying north of Bagdad, is only 285 miles from Russia, and Russia could seize the fields with little trouble, but they won't be able to use the oil until they have a transportation route through Turkey," he added.

A problem immensely more serious to the West and this country than any threat of Russian seizure is the fate of the British-operated Anglo-Iranian Oil company, because if the British lose out, we will be faced with the problem of supplying Western Europe with oil, Mr. Gould disclosed.

"This problem is a big one, because, essentially, the Anglo-Iranian Oil company is a nationalized industry, 51 per cent government-owned and operated under supervision of the British Admiralty. This means the oil concessions are actually made to the British government, and Iran quite rightly doesn't intend to allow a foreign government to control her main industry," he explained.

A possible solution to the problem would be for American oil companies to pool their finances and take over the British holding in partnership.

"The British government can't sell its 51 per cent of the stock in Britain, because, due to high taxation, private companies there just don't have the money," he asserted.

Mr. Gould, who is general manager of an oil tool manufacturing company and a popular forum speaker throughout the state, kept his audience of approximately 150 people interested and amused as he ranged from discussion of the serious problems of the area to tales of the vagaries of the Arab taxi drivers which put our American hot-rodders to shame.

Keith Monroe, who lived for several years as a Communist in Guatemala, will present his discussion of "Communism in Guatemala" as the next in the current series of adult forums in the high school cafeteria on February 22.

ROBERT KIRKWOOD ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Robert C. Kirkwood, state controller, today announced that he will be a candidate for election to the office which he now holds under appointment.

Kirkwood, in reviewing his record in public office, said: "During my year in the Controller's office, the interests of the taxpayers of California have been protected in the same cooperative and efficient manner that characterized the office under my predecessors. I have worked with my civil service staff to improve and simplify our methods of accounting, auditing and disbursing. Even though we have handled ten million dollars each working day, and have drawn an average of 180,000 checks on the State Treasury each month, the operations of the Controller's office have been free of criticism."

Local Women Attend Conference

Mrs. Sparlin Martin, Porterville, Mrs. C. C. Goodale and Mrs. L. W. Michalk, Farmersville, and Mrs. Henry Menton, Exeter, accompanied Clara Cowgill, extension home advisor, to the Home Economics Extension Leaders' conference in Berkeley this week.

Springville Rodeo To Be Joint Benefit

A decision to stage the annual Springville rodeo as a joint benefit for the rehabilitation program of the Tulare-Kings county tuberculosis association and the Springville chamber of commerce was reached at a meeting of chamber representatives and tuberculosis association representatives held in Springville Tuesday evening.

The rodeo will be held early in April at the Gill arena, with Cuff Burrell, noted rodeo producer, in charge. The show will be an official Rodeo Cowboy association event, with points won counting toward national championship ratings.

The celebration will also include a Frontier Days dance on Saturday evening preceding the show, under sponsorship of the Springville Lions club, and a carnival will play Springville over the rodeo weekend.

Plans are also being made for selection of a queen for the rodeo.

Corn Loan Rate Is 75 Per Cent

Since Tulare county is not classed as a commercial corn producing county, price support loan rate will be 75 per cent of the rate in commercial counties. A commercial corn producing county is one in which over the past 10 years, average production has been 450 bushels per farm with production of four or more bushels.

WOODVILLE BOOSTS AREA OVER $7,500 M.O.D. QUOTA

Woodville community netted about $1,000 for the Southeastern Tulare county March of Dimes from its old-fashioned box social Friday evening to bring the area's total contribution for the year over the $7,500 goal.

Troy Hutchinson, general chairman of the Woodville project in which Poplar and Cotton Center residents participated also, paid top price for the large "March of Dimes" cake donated by Bill Baugher of the Olive Club. Mr. Hutchinson presented the cake to the Exeter Memorial hospital.

Manuel Lucio of the Overland Sales yard was auctioneer for the event.

Springville community also surpassed its $500.00 quota by some $350.00, according to Warren Willsey, general chairman of the Lions club-sponsored drive.

A ham dinner held in the Springville Veterans' Memorial hall was the principal money-raiser.

We Only Heard By BILL RODGERS

ANNOUNCEMENT BY Harvey McCammon that he will be a candidate for Tulare county superintendent of schools brings the obvious question of just why he quit his job in the county schools office, after 13 years. In his own statement, he says that it seems a negative attitude has developed toward the county superintendent, (J. Post Williams), and his office that cannot be resolved as long as Mr. Williams is in the position of superintendent. Such a statement by Mr. McCammon could mean that even those persons in the office are admitting that things are not as they should be — a fact well established by the last two county grand jury reports — and that the handwriting is on the wall as far as Mr. Williams is concerned. Perhaps Mr. McCammon is "gittin' while the gittin' is good," but usually when a person announces for political office, he has some sort of promised backing, particularly, when a man, even after getting a substantial raise, quits an $8,180 per year job to seek another job — that of county superintendent, that pays only $7,080. It will be interesting to see just where that backing lies . . . Throughout the county there is considerable speculation as to who else will run for the county schools post. It is generally conceded that Mr. Williams will be a candidate for reelection and the name of Fred Trott has

CHAMBER BANQUET TUESDAY

Representatives of chamber of commerce throughout southeastern Tulare county have been invited to attend the 46th annual banquet of the Porterville chamber of commerce to be held next Tuesday, at 7:00 p.m. sharp, in the Porterville high school cafeteria.

Principal speaker will be Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, attorney general of the state of California, whose subject will be, "Legal Problems of the State of California." Master of ceremonies will be State Senator J. Howard Williams, of Porterville.

Vocal selections will be offered by the "Four Counts" of Porterville; invocation will be spoken by the Rev. Charles M. Brandon; Harry J. Johnson, chamber president, will preside and Porterville 20-30 club members will assist with serving a turkey dinner. Theme of the banquet will be "recreation."

Special feature of the evening will be presentation of annual chamber awards for the business, the farm organization and the individual who has contributed the most to the community during the past year.

A five-gaited, American Saddle bred horse, with silver mounted outfit, donated by Chamber Manager Joe Elliott, will be given away as a benefit for the Porterville community swimming pool. Winner of the horse has the option of accepting $1,000.

Special invitations have been sent to the chamber of commerce at Terra Bella, Woodville, Strathmore, Springville, Exeter, Tulare and Visalia, and to the Tulare county chamber of commerce.
